

PAIR ADMITS FAKING WILL OF AGED MAN

Two Accountants Are Held Under $50,-
000 Bail

By Francis A. Jamieson
(Associated Press Staff Writer)
New York, May 19.—(AP)—Ten days of persistent questioning today brought from two young accountants an admission they had systematically robbed Edward A. Ridley, slain eccentric millionaire, and with his secretary, Lee Weinstein, had tricked him into signing a spurious will.

The accountants, Arthur J. Hoffman, 23, and George Goodman, 31, were held in $50,000 bail each by magistrate August Dreyer in Tombs court for hearing Friday afternoon. Unable to furnish the high bail, they were committed to the Tombs.

Police said the accountants had denied earlier the slaying of the 42-year-old store owner, whose body was found with that of his secretary in his musty sub-basement Allen Street real estate office.

Inspector Francis J. Kear told how Weinstein, whom they said confessed the plan, they had stolen $200,000 from the man, who died in a room through creation of three dummy corporations and how Ridley believed he was merely signing a letter when he bequeathed Weinstein $200,000.

The breakdown of Hoffman and Goodman was the first major development in the police efforts to solve the mysterious slaying of Ridley, with its background of hidden millions, intrigue, unsolved murder and an old man's eccentricities.

The pair related their story of beginning to defraud Ridley shortly after Weinstein succeeded Herman Monch, whose slaying two years ago while he was the aged man's secretary is unsolved.

It was Weinstein's purchase of a $2,000 automobile that gave the police their first clue. The bill of sale was found in the hotel room of the woman he had secretly married under the name of John Lee. How he could buy a $2,000 automobile with $35 weekly salary had puzzled police they said.

Hoffman admitted drawing the will. He said Weinstein had placed the will among other papers to be signed by Ridley, whose eyesight was failing, and that he had signed it later, he and Goodman signed as witnesses, a fact that aroused police curiosity, since Hoffman had discovered the will among the old man's pile of records.

The courts probably would be called on to divide the estate among Ridley's heirs if another will is not found among his voluminous records.

Lion Takes Trip Thru Century of Progress Grounds

Chicago, May 19.—(AP)—"Lion Loose!" Strong men flinched, workmen at the Century of Progress grounds let tools slip from trembling fingers. For Brutus, that grand old trooper whose role it is to ride about a motordome in a motorcycle silecar, suddenly became timid of it all today. Time was when lions were lions eschewing such effete occupations as galivanting about in a smelly, noisy contraption.

So Brutus answered the call of the wild. A safari of six fair guards, ten firemen and eight policemen set out to find Brutus.

The hunt led through Foreign Countries, into the "Streets of Paris," and the "Belgian Village," features of the exposition.

They found the wandering one covered beneath the planking of the motordome, his tail between his legs and shivering.

Brutus seemed pretty glad to get back to his cage.

Construction on the World's Fair city was resumed.

MAY SURRENDER
JEHOI PROVINCE
TO JAPAN, CLAIM

A Compromise Agreement Planned By Nanking Gov't.

Canton, China, May 19.—(AP)—The Canton government charged today that the National government at Nanking is considering a compromise settlement with Japan which would involve the permanent loss by China of Manchuria and Jehol.

The Nanking government, the Canton administration declared in a formal statement, is preparing to grant virtual recognition to the state of Manchukuo.

May Surrender Jehol.
The province of Jehol, which the Japanese include in the territories of Manchukuo, would be surrendered by China under this contemplated arrangement, the Cantonese statement asserts.

The Canton government addressed this statement to the League of Nations, the signatories to the 1919 peace treaty—including the United States and to Soviet Russia.

Some of the Chinese National leaders are known to have considered in time past the severance of Manchuria from China as a possible and desperate means to re-establishing peace in the east.

"It may be better to submit to a terrible amputation rather than to let the sick man die," is the view which has been held by certain of the Chinese leaders.

The Cantonese accusation appears to echo the suspicion which was advanced in former Chinese sources recently in north China when Hwang Fu, reputed to be friendly to the Japanese, was dispatched to Tientsin as Nanking envoy.

A neutral zone in north China lying between the Great Wall and the Yellow River is another feature of the contemplated settlement, the Canton statement said.

"The Chinese people never will accept any agreement Nanking may be coerced into concluding with the Japanese government in violation of Chinese territorial sovereignty and in contradiction of the terms of the League of Nations resolutions relating to Manchuria, and the line power treaty," the Cantonese political group announced.

The Canton government condemned the Nanking government for taking part in any such alleged negotiations. With regard to Japan it asserted that the Japanese military general staff is in fact the government of that country.

SECRETARY MAY RECEIVE POWER TO FIX PRICES

Advocate Plan To End
Depression For Oil-
Gas Industry

By Clarence M. Wright
(Associated Press Staff Writer)
Washington, May 19.—(AP)—A comprehensive plan to end the depression for the oil and gas industry, a bill empowering the secretary of interior to fix prices, wages and hours of labor and to limit production to demand—was presented to congress today with at least the tacit approval of the administration.

It was drafted after weeks of study by a special committee including Secretary Ickes of the interior and Representative Marland (D., Okla.) Marland introduced the bill in the house and Senator Capper (R., Kan.) presented it in the senate.

The bill's backers said President Roosevelt tomorrow will send a letter to Vice President Garner and Speaker Rainey approving the general principles of the measure.

The bill's future depends to a large extent upon the president's attitude. Marland said he would seek action promptly by the house interstate commerce committee, to which it was referred. That committee now is in the midst of completing its work on two outstanding administration bills, the emergency railroad and security measures.

As introduced by Marland, the bill would remain operative two years and direct the secretary of interior to fix maximum and minimum prices to prevent unfair competition and "exploitation" of the consumer through excessive prices.

Any price less than the minimum or more than the maximum would be declared "unreasonable" and barred from interstate commerce.

To provide means of regulation, the interstate shippers of petroleum, its products, or gas, are required to furnish affidavit that their commodities were not produced in violation of regulations laid down by any federal or state agency. Furthermore, individual violators of any portion of the bill could be fined $1,000 to $5,000 and corporations $5,000 to $10,000.

The secretary is to determine the reasonable "market demand" and allocate a proper proportion of that to the oil producing states. If states refuse to accept, a special committee may be appointed to prorrate the allowable production for that state. If the committee fails to agree, the secretary of the interior may establish "allowable production of pools, areas or common sources of supply, and wells."

JOLIET POLICE
ARREST SUSPECT;
FIND JEWELRY

"Kentucky Joe" Colbert Is Being Held Pending an Investigation

Joliet, Ill., May 19.—(AP)—Police efforts to find the writer of three notes addressed to Mrs. Clyde G. Calkins of Joliet, threatening to harm her daughter, Shirley Mae, age five, today resulted in the arrest of John J. Colbert, of Morris, Ill.

Colbert, known as "Kentucky Joe," was taken into custody after Chief of Police Nicholas Fornango had announced jewelry had been found in his room at Morris.

Fornango later said Colbert told him he had directed the theft from Hilda Demming, 28, a former maid at the Calkins home, who is held on petty larceny charges preferred by Mrs. Calkins.

Three notes have been received by Mrs. Calkins. They contained threats to harm her daughter if she pressed charges against the maid.

Colbert was held tonight at Morris on a disorderly conduct charge. He is 37 years old, six feet seven inches tall and weighs 286 pounds. He denied knowing anything about the notes.

Chief Fornango directed as many as 100 men to search for Colbert, but he was not located. The Calkins home in search for clues to identify the note writers.

Last of the three notes warned Mrs. Calkins that she must not testify against her former maid. The maid, in jail awaiting trial, declared she knew nothing of the notes or their author, and that they evidently were intended to embarrass her.

Late today Mrs. Calkins called Chief Fornango and advised him that telephone wires leading from their home had been cut. An investigation by the telephone company showed that they had been severed close to a telephone pole near the house in daylight.

Hitler Surveys Nazi Strength

In the center of the world stage since pledging support for President Roosevelt's proposed non-aggression pact while insisting upon arms parity for Germany, Chancellor Adolf Hitler is shown here—in the most recent picture of him to reach America—as he addressed 30,000 North German storm troops at Kiel.

Labor and Business Endorse Administration's Gigantic Re-Employment-Industry Bill

Reform Worker
Ordered to Pay
Youth $12,000

Chicago, May 19.—(AP)—A jury today ordered Daniel Gilday, elderly reform worker, to pay $12,000 damages for the bullet wound he inflicted on 18-year-old Herman Knol.

Young Knol testified Gilday was intoxicated at the time and fired the shot while the youth was attempting to help him home. Gilday said he believed Knol and a companion were robbers.

Gilday was sentenced to a year in jail, but the state supreme court remanded the case and in another trial he was fined $100. Knol sued for $20,000, claiming that he spent weeks in a hospital and still suffered from the wound.

BANK OFFICIAL IS WITNESS IN MITCHELL CASE

Transactions Between
Banker And Wife
Are Explained

New York, May 19.—(AP)—Consideration of whether Charles E. Mitchell had ever made any substantial cash gifts to his wife before she purchased the stock of National City Bank, which Mitchell formerly headed, said that the 18,300 shares transaction was entered in a ledger of Mrs. Mitchell's accounts.

Barrett testified that the purchase price was entered in the ledger as $879,600, although the price agreed on between Mitchell and his wife was $3,000,000 more than that.

Through an oversight on the part of his secretary, Barrett testified the figure agreed on by the Mitchells had been omitted from the ledger.

After bringing out that the ledger up to that time showed only one payment—$5,000—in September, 1924—listed as a gift, Medale submitted to the jury just before court adjourned until Monday photostatic copies of memoranda showing that in 1931, Mrs. Mitchell received from her husband, a total of $145,000 in payments ranging from $10,000 to $50,000.

The memoranda also indicated that Mrs. Mitchell paid to him that year, $196,878.18, in sums each ranging around $49,000.

The documents did not indicate what occasioned these exchanges of money.

They were identified by George E. Sweeney, Mitchell's former secretary, who said he had obtained them for Mitchell.

Medale was questioning him concerning Mitchell's request for the memoranda when court adjourned, but had not made it clear just what he was trying to find out.

While Barrett, who handled Mrs. Mitchell's affairs from 1918 to early in 1930 was still on the stand, Max D. Steuer brought out that during those years, Mitchell had actually made several substantial gifts to his wife which were not listed in the ledger.

ROOSEVELT AND CHINESE ENVOY IN CONFERENCE

Peace In The Orient
May Be Established
Soon

Washington, May 19.—(AP)—The problem of stilling the booming guns of the Orient's undeclared war absorbed President Roosevelt tonight as he made farewell to China's envoy, T. V. Soong and prepared for conferences with an official spokesman for the Tokyo government.

In addition, the chief executive kept in close touch with the developing arms reduction conference at Geneva, noted with interest a cordial reply from the Russian government in response to his appeal for peace and returned to be distributed by word from Paris that Premier Daladier had rejected a cut in military expense with a declaration that the French army must be kept strong.

Peace Soon
From his first conference with Soong, vice-president of China's executive group and that nation's minister of finance came a statement of mutual "trust" that peace may soon be established in the far east.

The Russian reply to the president's cablegram addressed 30 rules in the interest of revived armaments and peace was hailed both here and in Moscow as marking a new stage in relations with the soviet, although officials would not comment on that aspect.

The president's message of Tuesday and the reply marked the first direct interchange of communications between the two nations since the world war.

"I have received your message of political and economic peace to all states and I feel sure that it will meet with warm response from the peoples of the soviet socialist republics," said the Russian communication, sent by Mikhail Kalinin, nominal head of the Moscow government.

"The soviet government, expressing the will of the peoples of the soviet union, has never ceased, at all international conferences in which it has for over ten years taken part, to draw attention to the necessity for universal disarmament as an indispensable premise for peace between nations."

The president at his press conference, was confident that his peace message and the speech of the German chancellor, Hitler, had eased the situation and improved the outlook for the Geneva conference.

Among the day's developments was the announcement by the president that there would probably be a cut in the number of officers in both the army and navy. He described both services as over-efficient.

Approves Sales Tax.
Green qualified his approval of the sales tax, however, with the provision that the sales levy be imposed during the present emergency for the public works bond issue only and with the stipulation that it be automatically ended when the revenue is not needed.

Asserting he favored repeal of the eighteenth amendment, Harriman said if that was brought about revenue on liquor would amount to between $400,000,000 and $500,000,000.

"I think the American people have enough common sense to bring about repeal within two years," Harriman said.

He referred to President Roosevelt's message to Congress on the legislation, asking for a tax levy until either the eighteenth amendment is repealed or until the treasury can bear the burden on the public works bond issue.

"I think the manufacturers sales tax is the fairest item on the program and the most unfair is that tax on dividends, because that is double taxation," Harriman said, in discussing the four revenue programs submitted to the committee yesterday by Lewis W. Douglas, budget director.

Douglas suggested increases in normal income tax rates and the making of stock dividends, subject to the normal income taxes.

In halting the measure as a forward step bringing about economic recovery, revival of industry, increases in employment and raises in wages, both Green and Harriman advocated removal of the limit of 30 per cent. on right grants by the federal government to states, cities and towns for projects. The federal government, they said, should give the whole amount in order that small communities, where there is no employment, may be given work.

In opposing the proposed increase in the gasoline tax, Harriman said, "this should be left to the states, and he added the so-called 'breakfast tax' for levies on coffee, tea and cocoa, were too high.

Harriman said he would prefer the launching of a $2,000,000,000 public works program, and opposed the recommendation by Green that the bill be amended to provide for a $5,000,000,000 public construction program. He added, however, he did not think the $400,000,000 allotment for highway construction was large enough.

Harriman suggested that a provision be inserted to continue the life of the act for the life of the emergency, instead of limiting it to two years.

HELD FOR KIDNAPING

Prepport, Ill., May 19.—(AP)—Charged with kidnaping W. J. Trevillian, vice president of the W. T. Rawleigh company, Laverne Moore and William Stubbs were held to the grand jury today by Justice Albert Lindsey. They were unable to raise $25,000 bonds and were lodged in jail to await the June grand jury.

Trevillian was abducted May 9 and held allegedly for $25,000 ransom by the pair, who were trapped on a tip by Rod and Jack Schulz of La Salle, to whom Moore is alleged to have confided the plot in order to engage them as confederates.

Judge Refuses to Force Ballplayer To Leave Team

Birmingham, Ala., May 19.—(AP)—Absence of Ben Chapman from the lineup of the New York Yankees might hurt pennant chances of the club, Judge William Walker ruled today in denying a motion for an order of reference to the pending suit for separate maintenance asked by the ball player's estranged wife, Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Chapman.

June Walker designated November 7 for hearing the suit, saying this was done so as not to "jeopardize Chapman's job with the Yankees by compelling him to leave the lineup in mid-season."

Further in his opinion the judge said issuing the order "might severely handicap the Yankees in another world series, thereby depriving the respondent's native city (Birmingham) of much reflected glory and renown, and the respondent himself of much money with which to pay attorney's fee and alimony in event the issues in the law suit are decided against him."

J. W. HARRIMAN ESCAPES FROM NURSING HOME

Leaves Notes Saying
He Intends To End
His Life

New York, May 19.—(AP)—Joseph W. Harriman wandered away today from the nursing home where he has been confined with a critical head disease, and while police searched the city for him his attorney disclosed tonight that he left several notes to members of his family making it clear he intended to kill himself.

The 66-year-old banker was scheduled to go on trial in federal court Monday on charges of falsifying the books of the closed Harriman National Bank & Trust company which he founded in 1912.

George S. Leisure, his attorney, made known the discovery of the suicide notes in a lengthy statement setting forth Harriman's physical and mental condition and defending his attempt to bolster the price of the bank's stock, for which purpose he is alleged to have made false entries of $1,661,170.

The statement did not disclose the contents of the notes or the identity of the addressees. The statement said that Mr. Harriman "has been gravely ill for a long time, not only physically, but mentally. He was aware that he was suffering from an acute and fatal disease of the heart and of the brain, and that there was no hope for his recovery."

Police and federal agents searched the city and watched steamship piers and railroad stations all day.

He is under $25,000 bonds, and authorities said he would be forfeited if he failed to appear in court Monday.

Leisure reported the banker's absence, telling police that a doorman noticed Harriman leaving the hospital on East 61st street, shortly before noon.

On March 14, while ill in bed at his home, Harriman was arrested on a federal warrant charging misuse of the bank's funds. United States Attorney George Z. Medale, simultaneously, said the investigation begun more than a year indicated the falsification of three accounts, including that of the National Exhibition company, owners of the New York Giants.

Bail was then set at $25,000 and was continued when he was carried into the federal courtroom April 10 on a stretcher and pleaded not guilty. Trial was set for May 8 and was continued because of his illness to May 22.

TWO POLICE DOGS WILL GUARD FAIR ART COLLECTION

"Prince" and "Peggy" Given
Big Job of Watching
Valuable Paintings

By Ruth Cowan
(Associated Press Staff Writer)
Chicago, May 19.—(AP)—Upon the tawny shoulders of two police dogs rests part of the heavy responsibility of guarding the most valuable collection of paintings ever assembled in history—the $75,000,000 Century of Progress Fine Arts Exposition, housed in the Chicago Art Institute.

The business of these two, "Prince" and "Peggy" is to scent out anyone attempting to hide in the building at night and possessors of the peaceful contemplation of art.

And for the purpose these two pedigreed dogs make 14 periodical tours of the galleries during the night accompanied by their trainer, Charles Kerr, and armed guards with their trigger fingers ready for action.

But that's all in the job to "Prince" and "Peggy."

They have been earning their meals this way ever since the art institute obtained them six years ago as puppies. And under the teaching of Kerr, nicknamed "keeper of the hounds," they have developed a disposition as suspicious as that of a farmer finding a small boy in his apple orchard with a "tummy" ache.

Now that the art institute, during the world's fair, is host to many of the world's masterpieces, with guards doubled and insurance running into big figures, a recent "work out" by the police "Prince" and "Peggy" just to be sure they hadn't gone stale on the job.

A stranger as hidden in a chest—for his own safety—and the dogs brought in.

5,000 FARMERS HEAR ADDRESS BY GOVERNOR

Chief Executive Says
He Will Help Solve
Problems

Madison, Wis., May 19.—(AP)—Gov. A. G. Schmiedeman, in the University gymnasium this afternoon faced 5,000 farmers, many of them participants in the milk strike which the governor is supporting with national guardsmen and special deputies, and gave a pledge of energetic effort to solve agricultural difficulties in an orderly manner.

The farmers descended on the capital unexpectedly, their demonstration being a secretly organized "march to Madison" to call attention of state officials to their plight.

As they came their mediators in the governor's office were setting their milk strike, and many of them did not learn until their arrival that the strike which raged for six days had been called off.

Police Clear Path
In the gymnasium, packed from gallery to platform with farmers in overalls, the governor first was greeted with roars of approval. He entered wearing a military uniform, general Ralph M. Immel, the target of many attacks by farm leaders. There was some booing as police cleared a path to the platform.

But the Governor was heard with respectful attention. He spoke in a low tone of voice, obviously weary by many hours of conferences. He was applauded when he finished his brief address.

"I promise you sincerely that I will do everything in my power to see that you are again as happy and prosperous," Gov. Schmiedeman said.

"I know that you are a peaceful and law abiding citizenry and that you are trying to bring before the people the nature of your plight."

He made only slight reference to the succession of riots which prompted his calling out the state's national guardsmen for service as civilian deputy sheriffs. "You have sense enough

ARMS MEETING WAITS DEFINITE U. S. STATEMENT

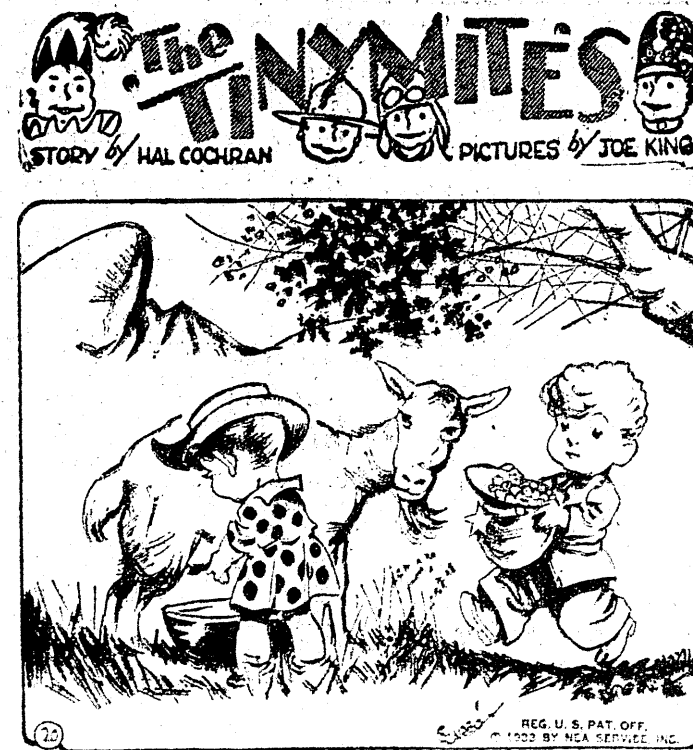

Geneva, May 19.—(AP)—Sessions of the world disarmament conference resumed today with delegates hopeful that the conciliatory foreign policy pronounced by Chancellor Hitler and the peace message of President Roosevelt, pointed the way to an agreement of reduction of arms.

A feeling of optimism that the deadlock into which the conference had fallen could be broken was aroused by the Chancellor's declaration before the German Reichstag. His statement that Germany was ready to comply with any new obligations accepted by other nations was interpreted in some quarters as referring to a possible security pact.

The American president's direct appeal to other nations was heralded as setting the stage for a possible agreement on reduction of offensive weapons.

A number of the chief delegates, meanwhile, awaited from Norman A. Davis, American ambassador-at-large, a exact definition of the Washington stand concerning participation in an international pact against an aggressor.

Formal sessions of the conference were omitted yesterday to enable a study by the delegates of the Berlin and Washington pronouncements.

The Tinkles thought it lots of fun to put clay dishes in the sun and watch them bake until they were as hard as hard could be.

Said Goldy, "I am pretty good. You boys can make some of your own. If you will just wait me."

Then Duncy said, "Oh I know how. I'll make another batch right now. I think I'll try some little cups, with handles on the side."

Wee Duncy cried, "For goodness sake, those are the hardest things to make. The handles always fall right off. I know because I've tried."

But Duncy squatted on the ground and, while the others gathered round to watch him, he began to mold some little balls of clay.

He put one shape down by his side. "It's that a cup," he said. "Then it looks more like a soup bowl. Gee, with mud pies you should play."

Just then their pet goat rushed right up and trampled on the funny cup. Of course it made poor Duncy mad.

He shouted, "Get away!"

But Scouty said, "Oh, don't get sore. We had one goat. Now we've got more. The mate to our pet goat is here, and they both want to play."

The second goat then went "Baa, baa!" and Duncy loudly shouted, "Ah! This is our chance to get some milk. A dandy treat in store."

"Just wait, now, till you hear my hunch. We'll use my clay bowls and have lunch. You kids run get some berries and on them some milk well pour."

"That's great," said Copper. "I'll do that." And very shortly his big hat was taken to overflowing with the berries he had found.

Wee Duncy set to milking. She was just as clever as could be. "Brine on the bowls," she shouted. "Then all squat down on the ground."

GREAT POWERS TO BE GIVEN HUGH JOHNSON

Moline Man Offered Industrial Post By President

BY JAMES P. SELVAGE
Associated Press Staff Writer
(Copyright, 1933, by Associated Press)
Washington, May 19.—(AP)—Many weighty decisions, far-reaching in their effects upon the nation's economic recovery, will fall to the lot of Hugh S. Johnson, Moline, Ill., manufacturer, if he accepts President Roosevelt's appointment as director of industry.

The almost unlimited power conferred on the chief executive under the industrial-control bill to approve agreements within industry and enforce them through licensing of plants if necessary, would be shifted to the shoulders of Johnson, a soldier, lawyer and manufacturer.

Johnson, former member of the old war industries board and a close associate of Bernard Baruch, was offered the post by the president yesterday by telephone. Pending formal passage of the bill and creation of the office by congress and his acceptance, Johnson has begun building up an organization.

This is part of the administration's plan to drive the momentous legislation through congress at the earliest possible moment and put it into effect as a keystone of the emergency steps aimed at breaking the depression. It was introduced Wednesday.

Under the industrial regulation section of the legislation, industry would be permitted to get together through trade associations to control production, prices, hours of work and minimum wages. Should these agreements fail in any industry or should a minority decline to join, the bill empowers the president to license plants if necessary.

Informed circles Johnson is credited with "putting the teeth" in the measure.

Johnson was reluctant to talk about the offer last night. He said he was asking himself if he were competent to handle what he described as one of the largest undertakings in the nation's history.

Of Scotch-Irish ancestry, Johnson was born in Fort Scott, Kas., fifty years ago. Educated at West Point and the University of California, he became judge advocate. Later, during the war, he served as deputy provost marshal general at Washington and then chief of the purchase and supply bureau of the general staff. He is credited with an active part in organizing the organization of the purchase, storage and traffic division of the general staff.

After resigning from the army in 1919, he became vice president of the Moline Plow Company, of which George N. Peck was general manager. In 1925 Johnson organized the Moline Implement Company and was chairman of its board until 1928.

I USED to judge a tire by what it cost. What a mistake that was. Last year I discovered that Riverside tires are made of the finest materials by skilled workmen—in one of America's largest tire factories. THE factory that makes millions of tires for America's leading cars. The only important difference between Riversides and other famous tires is price. Ward's prices are 10% lower. What's more, Riversides are guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction. When I heard that, I put them on my Lincoln and I've been using them ever since. That saving of 10% will buy a lot of things I need. No tire salesman will ever get me to pay extra for other tires again. I'm married to Riversides.

ARREST FOLLOWS

Virginia, May 19—A local girl was severely frightened and it is believed that at least one of the causes of recent robberies in Virginia homes is locked in jail as a result of the awakening of Jo Crum, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur E. Crum, in time to recognize Glen "Red" Thomas, 30, as he fled from her room about 3 o'clock yesterday morning.

Miss Crum was awakened by the falling over of a perfume bottle on a dressing table in her room and immediately turned on light in the room by a switch near her bed. She saw Thomas and screamed, awakening her father, who at first denied having been at the Crum home and later confessed, ran out of her room and down stairs out a side door.

Sheriff Reichenbush was called and immediately apprehended Thomas at his home. Thomas spent the night in jail until 10 p. m., when he was taken to the county jail.

Several homes in the neighborhood of the Crum residence have been entered and robbed of cash and valuables lately.

Judge Stone Denies Motions in Ayers Bank Cases; Trial Monday

Victorious in two legal jousts with attorneys for M. F. Dunlap, W. G. Goebel, and Edward M. Dunlap, attorneys for the state Friday were putting the finishing touches on the case which they will launch against the former officers of the Ayers National Bank. State's Attorney Wilfred Absher won two decisions in the Morgan County Circuit court room yesterday afternoon when Judge L. E. Stone, Springfield, denied motions by counsel for M. F. Dunlap seeking a continuance of the case against the financier until next November, and denied motions by counsel for W. G. Goebel and Edward M. Dunlap asking for separate trials.

Trial of M. F. Dunlap and W. G. Goebel on charges brought forth in an indictment alleging larceny by bailee and embezzlement will begin Monday morning at nine o'clock. Others named in the indictments which involved the officers of the now closed Ayers National Bank, have been set for trial the coming week.

Judge Stone ordered the regular venire of 20 men to report Monday morning for jury duty, and ordered, "because of the widespread publicity" given these cases, and because of the evident care with which the counsel will select a jury to hear the first case docketed, a special venire of 100 jurors. Officials at the county court house were busy last night preparing the list of jurors and in issuing the summons.

Claiming that he had not had time to prepare to defend M. F. Dunlap, and that he would like to appear in the Ayers bank president's trial on charges of larceny by bailee and embezzlement, Attorney Edmund Burke of Springfield, presented a plea for a continuance until the next term of court. The continuance was denied after Judge Stone indicated that he would be willing to continue the trial until the first week in June. Surprised by the move to continue, State's Attorney Wilfred Absher presented a strong plea for immediate trial and won his point when the defense attorneys indicated that they would seek delay until next November. Argument for and against the plea for continuance waxed warm between the attorneys as the hearing progressed.

Attorney H. E. Fullenwider presented a motion for a separate trial for W. G. Goebel in the suits which also name M. F. Dunlap as a defendant, and Attorney Orville Foreman pleaded for his motion for a separate trial for Edward M. Dunlap, also named with M. F. Dunlap in one indictment.

Clear Decks For Action. Bringing the legal barriers before the trial of the new cases, Judge Stone National Bank before the bar of justice to answer to allegations in indictments returned against them, charging larceny by bailee, embezzlement, and withholding funds were cleared away. At the close of the hearing, Judge Stone asked the defense counsel if they had any more motions to bring before the court.

The defense responded that it would be unwise to bring the special panel of 100 jurors to the court house before Tuesday morning, indicating that they planned to question the jury before Tuesday morning, and that the selection of a jury will require at least two or three days. The first jurors to be called will be those who were regularly scheduled for next week of the May term of court, consisting of a panel of 20 men.

Attorney Burke of Springfield, was introduced as one of the defense counsels for M. F. Dunlap yesterday at the beginning of the hearing. Mr. Burke presented the plea of the defense for a continuance, claiming that he was overworked and that he had been too busy engaged since that time to do any investigating.

Mr. Burke said that he urged Mr. Dunlap to employ another attorney to assist in the investigation and that the financier, William E. Ayers, Jr., would take care of the preliminary work. Mr. Burke stated that he was not familiar with the cases and that he would be unable to prepare a suitable defense in the time remaining for preparation. He also said that there did not appear to be any necessity for speed, and that he would like to participate in the defense, but that he was afraid he would be unable to do so at this term of court.

State's Attorney Wilfred Absher arose immediately after Mr. Burke closed his address to the court, and stated that he wished to enter the objections of the state for any continuance. He said that the defense move was a surprise to him, and that he could find no justifiable reason for granting the plea.

Mr. Absher pointed out that the defendants have been notified that they are to go to trial May 22, and that witnesses have been summoned from as far away as Chicago.

Arguing that the facts of the case could not be changed by delay, and that he did not wish to assume the responsibility for the defense of M. F. Dunlap, Attorney Wilkes asked the indulgence of the court in granting the plea for continuance.

Stone Asks For Dates. Judge Stone in answering the plea, said that he was disposed to grant the request of Mr. Burke. Judge Stone suggested that the cases be moved over until June. This brought Mr. Burke before the bar again.

The situation which would keep him from assisting in the defense of M. F. Dunlap would not be any better in another month, he declared. "I hope that the case can go over until the next term," he said. Mr. Dunlap is not a newcomer to Jacksonville, he pointed out, and he said "he has been here a long time, and will be here, if he lives, when the case is called." Closing his talk, he said he couldn't conceive of anything that would demand an immediate trial, and that justice demanded ample time for the preparation of the defense.

State's Attorney Absher answered him, declaring that these cases were important. "If Dunlap is not guilty, we want to know it, and if he is guilty we want to know it," he argued. The quicker the cases are settled, the better it will be for all concerned, he said, because all of the questions at issue need deciding now.

The state would be put to considerable inconvenience if the continuance was allowed, he continued, and

HORSE KILLED BY TRUCK DRIVER ON PIKE HIGHWAY

High Water Drives Families From Homes At Valley City

Griggsville, Ill., May 19.—Settlement has been made for the loss of the horse killed Tuesday evening about 8:30 o'clock the team and wagon being driven by Fred Hower who was coming south from the Frank Clark place was run into by Homer Cadwell with his truck when driving north. The accident happened near Griggsville on the road to Perry.

The truck struck one of the black horses being driven by Mr. Hower, turned him around and doing so broke his back, making it necessary for the horse which was a fine one, to be killed by the veterinarian. The truck was damaged some, and Mr. Hower was pulled from his wagon and bruised and shook up but was able to be about the streets the next morning. The other horse while scratched up a bit, was not seriously injured. Damages of one hundred twenty five dollars was given Mr. Hower for the loss of his horse and for damages to his wagon.

More Out of Homes The highest water in the Illinois river at Valley City since 1927 has caused about a dozen families to move out of their homes there. At present there are but two families who are able to stay in their homes on the east side of the street and a few more inches will compel them to move out. One family has moved into the basement of the Free Methodist church. Other families on the bottom are seeking for tents from the state to move in when compelled to leave their homes. The Valley City ferry is now operating from the main street in Valley City the water having come up to the Washab tracks there. Several families are using boats to get to and from their homes in. The water is still rising, it going up one inch Friday morning. The water is to within a few feet of the Washab bridge and trains were seriously delayed this morning going west.
